THE YEAR-BOOK OF MARYVILLE COLLEGE

COMPILED AND PUBLISHED
by
THE JUNIOR CLASS
NINETEEN HUNDRED AND TWENTY-THREE

FOREWORD

IN offering the Chilhowean of 1923 as a record of the hundred and fourth year of our College, we wish we might have been possessed of high literary brilliance and artistic genius, that we might have expended it all in behalf of our book, but lacking these things, we none the less submit this volume of the Chilhowean to the friends of Maryville with the simple hope that it may perpetuate in their hearts the memories of this college year. 🍀 🍀 🍀 🍀

To

Professor Edwin R. Hunter

Teacher, counselor, and friend of Maryville students, whose deeds make his all-embracing interest in student activities clearer than words can depict, an instructor whose genius incites us to brave the toilsome steeps of the path to knowledge, a man whose daily fellowship inspires us to seek the heights along the journey of life, we the Juniors of 1923 lovingly dedicate our year book.

*If thou wouldst see fairness aright
Go visit here in the pale moonlight.*

Go forth unto the open sky and List to Nature's teachings.

*Where man's threefold nature is perpetuated;
Mind, soul and body.*

"And now we dedicate this building to the memory of the generous donors."

From the address of Dr. Wilson at the dedication of Thaw Hall.

Our Chapel:

*This spot on earth supremely blest,
a sweeter, dearer, spot than all the rest.*

The night has a thousand eyes.

*Within these ivied walls is found
Knowledge both high and noble.*

*And books, we know,
Are a substantial world, both pure and good.*

SENIORS 10—JUNIORS 0

After a fair season of Varsity football the Senior "Dignitaries" wished to produce their quality of strength on the gridiron and therefore challenged the Junior "Intellectuals" to a post season game which was played December 6.

The Dignitaries and Intellectuals ventured forth on a muddy field and in the midst of a shower of rain and the battle was on. The Juniors led by Capt. Sanchez put forth their intellectual and physical powers but that was not enough to overcome the strength of the Seniors led by their class president, Capt. "Buck" Ellis. After many vocal and physical combats, a pass to Janoviczky and a drop-kick by Capt. Ellis were successful and the "Intellectuals" dwindled beneath the "Dignitaries."

During the combat on the field the Fish and Juniors attempted to raise their colors on the goalposts, but were prohibited by the Sophs and Seniors.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

MARGARET McKINNEY

President

She can certainly fill the President's chair. Margaret is quite practical—nothing subjective about her.

A modern volcano of slams.

MARY ROBISON

Vice-President

As a minister's daughter she makes a star basketball player. We always thought that red heads and tempers were synonymous until Mary "Bob" hove in sight.

OTHEL ARMSTRONG

Secretary

"Army" is from Illinois and to our southern friends he seems a typical product of "Yankee-dom."

A meddlesome thing that is frequently darned, but never mended.

HARVEY GRIGGS

Treasurer

Harvey says, "Everything is peaches down in Georgia." Is that why you journeyed Georgia-ward in February, Harvey?

JENNIE MONTGOMERY

Assistant Treasurer

The lost has been found. She left us a year ago, but after one year in the "worldly" world, she has returned to Miss Molly's fold.

THELMA ADAIR

Editor

Adair is adore, anytime though "Miles" intervene. The minority was a large one, Thelma, when you just missed out as prettiest Junior. We are still wondering if "Army" didn't stuff the ballot box.

CHILHOWEAN

JUNIOR CLASS

LINA HODGES

Lina is a young person who spends her noons gamboling upon the green. Also there is another kind of Gamble connected with the gambling.

VERTON QUEENER

Immediately we hear the female chorus pipe, "Where did he get that marcel? Why are we not so blessed?" Just one other question, "Vert, did your hair ever get rumpled?"

"For every why he has a wherefore."

KATHERINE BUELL

She can concoct some of the most appetizing dishes. She's the jolliest thing—just like hot buttered toast.

BURR BASSEL

He knows all about differential and calculus and perhaps some day in the dim future he will belong to the Maryville baseball nine.

His voice is ever soft and low as a lady's should be.

M. M. BOYER

Extract from the 1926 DeSoto "Courier" by the editor, Miss M. M. Boyer, "Don't you just love this theory of auto-suggestion? Just think of the possibilities of power if mind can control matter!"

CHARLES TAYLOR

Taylor is a relic of the S. A. T. C. spotted-cube rolling days. That famous sport being suppressed, his energetic knock knees now keep time to the aerial music of the saxophone.

JUNIOR CLASS

CECIL CROW

Cecil is a rising young man. It's a cinch that if he were appointed assistant street sweeper of Maryville tomorrow, one month from date the mayor would be out of a job.

Permit us to recommend politics as a life work.

FLORENCE WHITFIELD

She's from Missouri and she seems to have "shown" John pretty thoroughly. Debating is her forte—or is it moonshining?

SARAH KISKADDEN

A thoroughly delightful companion for any quiet jaunt. Omar must have been thinking of her when he wrote that "loaf of bread, a jug of wine, and thou beside me in the wilderness" stuff. Let George do it.

HELEN BROWNING

Anybody who doesn't believe that Tennessee is the state of "beautiful horses and fast—beautiful women and fast horses", please step forward. Here's a brown eyed Browning we want to present.

Then she would talk, ye gods, how she would talk.

GERALDINE ROUSSEAU

She has to stay in on windy days to keep from blowing away. Diminutive? In size, yes, but size isn't everything by any means. A dynamite stick is small also.

DAVID KING

King David, the Wise. If you would be dignified, if your aim is to know all without imparting it, see David. Why, oh why did not the Life-Work Conference recommend editorial work. Shades of Horace Greeley, beware!

Stiff as a dress shirt bosom.

CHILHOWEAN

JUNIOR CLASS

CAZWELL JOHNSTONE

He used to be "Gas-well." Now, it seems by his demeanor that he is no longer "azwell" as before. "Just another poor man gone wrong."

RECA GARDNER

Between you and me and the ice-box, I'll bet she was "Eureka" once, but now she has adopted the abbreviation in order not to discourage any male comers. Has he found you?

JOHN SANCHEZ

Come back, my love, return! After a personal interview with John, we discovered a layer of skepticism concerning the fair sex.

I wonder who's osculating her now, eh, John?

ALICE HUNT

Have you a little fairy in your home? "Shorty" has (S)need of one and his chances look good at present. How did you ever achieve that brown-eyed dreamy expression, Alice?

JOHN NUCHOLS

He smiles without smirking and laughs without derision. In fact he is a living example of "Good will toward all men."

EVA MORELOCK

She's no relation to "Little Eva", nor to that other Eva of theatrical fame, although we have heard her say, "I don't care."

CHILHOWEAN

JUNIOR CLASS

RUTH ACKERMAN

Ruth doesn't have very much to say in public, but it is wonderful what an impression intelligent silence will make upon a professor. Would that a few of our ambitious broadcasters would take notice!

GUY SNEED

As a student "Shorty" is a wonderful football player. Did you ever wonder who that was behind the pillar at Pearsons after entertainments at chapel? That is "Shorty and company."

IRMA SHERFEY

No wonder boys leave their happy homes! Sometime, Irma, if Professor Hunter asks for a short story, you could write a masterpiece on "Conquests I have made."

MARY BROADY

Sarcastic? Only in debate, and then it's the kind that hits hard but leaves a sweet taste in your mouth.

Silence is golden, but the next best thing is that your words be fit and few.

BLANCHE MOORE

It has always been our secret belief that every fall since Blanche has been with us, Freshmen have innocently asked her how it felt to be a Senior. Next year, you can tell them, Blanche.

CHARLES WATHEN

If you have a joke which needs to be cheered, tell it to Wathen. He will be sure to laugh. No wonder he is going to be an M. D. Any patient would be cured by that face.

Gallops around like a short-tailed calf in June.

CHILHOWEAN

JUNIOR CLASS

MARGARET WEEKS

How many weeks? The calendar says fifty-two, but the catalog says one.

Is it possible to be a true-blue red-head?

HAROLD VAN ORDEN

Oh boy, some vocabulary he has! He surely is up on current literature. Of course, he always does a good Weeks work.

His feet must be asleep, they turn in so much.

VASHTI THWEATT

Vashti is always the nucleus of a jolly bunch beside the water garden at noon. It's a good thing, Buck Ellis didn't throw her in the pond every time he threatened to.

HUGH CLABOUGH

If Hugh didn't star for the Juniors in the Junior-Senior football game, in some miraculous way, he always managed to be at the bottom of a mass of squirming arms and legs.

Just as I am without one she.

DOLLY ENOCH

Y. W. just couldn't get along without her. She has one peculiar trait; while most people prefer June she is quite open in her devotion to August.

THOMAS GREENLEE

He may have been a "scrub" but as our Junior coach he did so well that we nearly beat the Seniors. How about it, Pop?

He never lets study interfere with his education.

CHILHOWEAN

JUNIOR CLASS

ALICE JOHNSON

She has been our May Queen attendant twice. No need to ask what the Junior Class thinks about her.

She has a fat little laugh that is very infectious.

MALCOLM MILES

He will be forever famous as the author of "219 Says." He must have a marvelous memory for ancient history or he never could have written that column.

SUE VEAZEY

She could tell you in a jiffy the formula for datura, stramonium, and salanaceous alkaloids are no mystery to her. She would not tremble in the presence of 1, 2, 4, trihydroxyanthraquinone acid, and she adores triphenylcarbinolcarboxylic acid.

CHARLES PARTEE

The Junior Class like to point to him as being one of their particular contributions to the football team. Ever notice that adorable southern drawl of his?

You must needs take off the roof to give his head room.

MADELINE HOLMES

It's a delight to watch her swim and it's a joy to hear her cello solos. An evening at the chapel wouldn't be complete without one of Madeline's numbers.

SAM FRANKLIN

Study his technique and I'll guarantee you'll be making A's in no time—that is if you have the requisite amount of gray matter, which in Sam's case is not inconsiderable.

Little Lord Fauntleroy grown up.

JUNIOR CLASS

MASON MANN

Anything from presiding over the dining hall with gravity and decorum, to haranguing Alpha Sigma Society is entirely possible for him.

Full of wise saws, modern instances, and mother-in-law stories.

RACHEL HIGGINBOTHAM

If she is ever cross she conceals it admirably, and incidentally we might mention that she must be an awfully good listener.

There is that in her laughter which dispels "Mann's" sadness.

JOHN HALL

He is a picture of agility when smoothly picking up a few love sets from an opponent. His skill doesn't seem to be limited to the handling of a tennis racquet either.

REBECCA SCOTT

If you want to see absolutely the latest in knitted hats, flowers, and so forth, just observe Rebecca—but why, oh why did she ever permit herself to be deprived of those fetching curls?

ALMA REGNEMER

We failed utterly in our efforts to coerce Dr. Hussey into giving us the French version of "Alma, Sweet Alma."

GRACE BROWN

When Grace gets the ball the crowd is positive that M. C. Co-eds have added two more points to their score. And say, she surely does put her "gym" classes through their paces. Getting thin to music simply isn't in it!

CHILHOWEAN

JUNIOR CLASS

SUE WHITE

We don't know her so awfully well yet. She comes from Georgia and is lots of fun to talk to.

CECIL TIMBLIN

Nice dependable people are so refreshing, and I just know he'd never break a promise. Manhood fused with feminine grace.

DOROTHY DICKERSON

D. D. does not signify Dot's ability along scholastic lines. In fact it would be typical of her accomplishments if all those in favor say "A."

MARJORY LOYD

Just as she makes her debut, some vulgar male person in the rear of the house commences humming "Margie."

FAYE STANDISH

Faye is simply irresistible. Of course she's little and has curly hair. She must eat lots of bread crusts, for the wave is perfect. Oh that those lips had language!

CHRISTINE PAINTER

There are Carpenters and Masons, Turners and Stubblebines, but there is only one "Painter", viz. Christine.

CHILHOWEAN

JUNIOR CLASS

E. B. JACKSON

Jimmy, the kid from Brooklyn. What puzzles us is the fact that he doesn't live up to the "boid", "thoid", and "joisy" City of proverbial Brooklynites.

LUCILE McRADY

She makes a peach of a bathing beauty. Mack Sennett's success will be trebled when Lucile appears in the movies.

FLOYD CORRY

We never knew Floyd could speak out loud until he entered forensics. Green shades of Demosthenes!

LOIS HAYES

Lois contrived to lose the major portion of her irrepressibleness during the few months in which she taught school. Horrors! I hope the pupils didn't contract it.

Men may come and men may go, but Hooks goes on forever!

EDGAR MARTIN

We have great hopes of Edgar as a star of the diamond. Keep us in mind when the predicted Junior-Senior game takes place, for with you on the mound we shall say with Caesar, "Veni, vidi, vici."

HENRIETTA JACKSON

Henri was most unfortunate in being marooned at the movies with some masculine person, identity unknown, on the morning that the night watchman was cosily installed behind the brick-pile on Main Street.

JUNIOR CLASS

BURL PRITCHARD

This business of going to college is such a tremendously serious matter we are not at all surprised at Mr. Pritchard's harrassed expression.

MAE DAVIS

M. A. D. You never would guess it by her attitude because nothing seems to ever disturb the calm of her unruffled expression.

JAMES HARDIN

Cheer up, Jim, if you cannot be famous one can at least be notorious.

"Thou hast a great future behind thee."

MARGARET DUKE

Such a proper person! She's an exception to that old saw about all the "sins flesh is heir to", for if she's heir to any, we hadn't noticed it.

MARY BIGELOW

Mary is the sort of a girl who impresses one as being very dignified. But not so when one really knows her. Keep a firm grasp on your "Magna Cum" Mary and descend from your perch.

BERTHA RUSSELL

In the future we'll hear people refer to Bertha as an eminent essayist. If anyone ever makes a hit with her, he'll have to be superior to "Sid" Lanier and Prof. Hunter.

JUNIOR CLASS

HELEN TAYLOR

She is a member of the "Three Musketeers." If you wish to see all three miniatures look for Helen anytime, anywhere. The other duo will be in the offing.

DOROTHY STIVERS

This is the first female of our acquaintance who has shown no indication whatever of fickleness. Can't any of us even tempt you to moonshine, Dorothy?

MARIE GRIFFITH

She's such a diminutive thing it seems almost impossible that she is an English assistant. I wonder if she's of any assistance to the Chemistry department?

H. C. BOWLES

We wish we could see him "buck that line" again. Incidentally his taste in diamonds is exquisite. What a cute little baby he must have been.

MARY HUMPHREYS

"My heart's in Ohio, my heart is not here,
My heart is at Wooster achasin' the dear."

HAZEL BEVAN

What can't that girl do! Anything from taking a part in a play to tacking up posters seems to be entirely in order. Speaking of posters, somebody else knows a thing or two about that.

"Though she is long, she's pretty long."

MARGARET WALTON

She seems so perfectly demure and quiet. Break rules? Mercy no! Besides you know it would be practically impossible to indulge in any sort of a breach of discipline if "Mac" McClung happened to be your particular playmate at the time.

CHILHOWEAN

Junior Gridiron Heroes

The Junior football fans witnessed one of the best teams this year in the history of the class. Any team going a whole season with one lonely defeat has indeed a record to be proud of.

The team this year was not a one-man team; it was made up of 11 stars and a hearty host of substitutes which would shine as bright as the 11 aforementioned.

Looking over the line, possibly the lightest man was Pritchard, the 210 pound guard. It then ranged up to Queener, the beefy, speedy, end.

And when Sanchez, Griggs, Clabough and Jackson hit the line it looked as if the Seniors' line of scrimmage had been wet and laid out in the sun and warped.

The prospects for next year are good. Since not a single letter man will be lost thru graduation, Coach Greenlee will surely have a formidable crew to work with.

Men receiving letters this season are, namely: Capt. Sanchez, Quarterback; Griggs, Fullback; Jackson, Right Halfback; Clabough, Left Halfback; Queener, Left End; Hardin, Left Tackle; Pritchard, Guard; Mann, Center; Armstrong, Right Guard; Van Orden, Right Tackle; Seaton, Right End; Bassel, Tackle; Corry, Guard; Taylor, End; Miles, Halfback.

Coach Greenlee was awarded an honorary letter for putting out one of the best teams in the history of the class.

Watch out everybody

The Spirit of the Class of '26

We came, we see, we will conquer. Not in the spirit of Caesar nor like the great Napoleon, but in the true spirit of Maryville. From New York to California, from Washington to Florida, from all parts of our dear country and from foreign lands, we came and banded together as the class of '26. Soon we became accustomed to the new but inspiring ideals of our Alma Mater. Then our work began. We were well represented on the football team. After winning the basketball tournament, we provided a big share of the basketball champs.

Both girls and boys were well represented in baseball, track, and tennis. Many freshmen were seen in the plays of the year, in the glee club, and in forensics. Our work has just begun. We are proud of our first year, but we are looking to the future when we hope to do more to help build up the spirit of Maryville, to improve the work of our Alma Mater, to secure a brighter place on the map of education and high ideals for Maryville College.

Our Love for Maryville

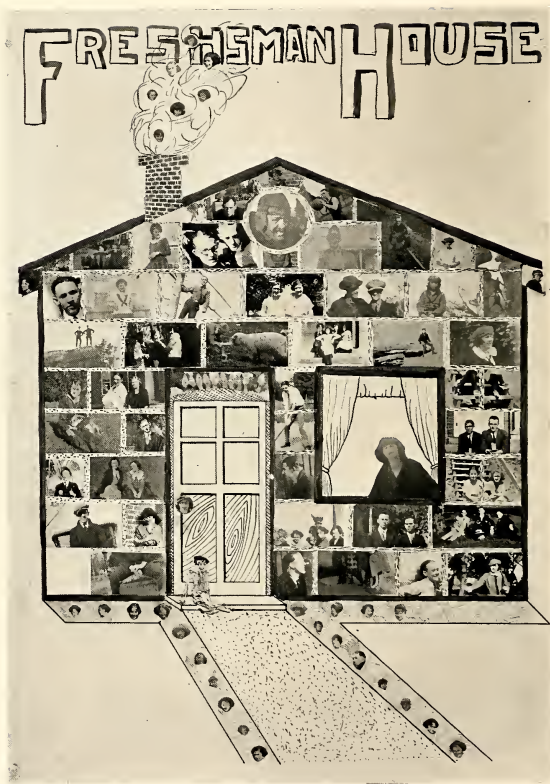

We've come from many different states and sections round about;
We're something that a college somehow cannot do without.
Sometimes we're called by "awful" names and told that we are green;
Sometimes we're scared almost to death and called before the Dean.

We have been known to be the cause of laughter now and then;
We make a slip perhaps in speech, or maybe with our pen.
Oft times we're told we'll never learn, and called a hopeless lot;
Oft times when we have done our best it's all called "tommyrot."

Yet we're glad that we are Freshmen and can live on College Hill,
Among our upper classmen and the "preps" of Maryville.
We like the feeling of good will, the friendly spirit shown,
That give our lives while we are here, a brighter, richer tone.

Mary Mc sits on a cushion,
And sews a straight seam;
Then feeds us on strawberries,
Sugar and cream.

Agnes is our little cook,
She uses pots and tins;
And even though she's little,
She's good at rolling pins.

Mary H. is quite a hustler,
And she's got a great big "rep";
But sometimes in a hurry,
She uses salt for "pep."

Lillis has spent a lot of time,
Deciding what she'll do;
But now she has it settled,
She thinks she'll cook for two.

Sarah is our fancy cook,
She's always making kisses;
Then she don't ever bother,
For Dan Cupid washes dishes.

Jonny's good at everything,
She likes our mixing bowls;
She's good at washing dishes,
But she's best at making rolls.

Lilah is our oldest cook,
She's had more time you see;
To learn, than most of us,
She always serves at Tea.

Mary Elizabeth is a dandy cook,
Oh my, but she is handy;
She spends most all her cooking time,
To make some fellow candy.

Alice is our northern cook,
She deals in pies and cakes;
She's good at making all of this,
But that's not all she makes.

Clarabel, our good old cook,
Is going way up north, they say;
To wash the cups and saucers up,
And brush the crumbs away.

ABOUT ONE-THIRD OF THE "COLLEGE MAIDS"

The Commercial Sewing Room

In the fall of '21 a commercial sewing room, in connection with the Home Economics department, was opened for the benefit of girls who needed, or wanted, to earn part of their college expenses.

A hundred and forty girls were on the payroll, and over four thousand garments made that year. With a few more working this year the output will be doubled.

While a few things are retailed to students and visitors, most are sold wholesale to such stores as Marshall Fields' of Chicago, Anderson-Dulin-Varnell's of Knoxville, and High's of Atlanta.

"The College Maid" sewing room is open six days of the week from eight-thirty A. M. to five P. M., and any girl may work any time.

Our trade mark:

When you buy

You are helping some girl work her way through college.

The Forensics Schedule for the year showed a tremendous growth. In addition to three dual debates among the boys, and two dual debates among the girls; a boys' team traveling through Tennessee, North Carolina and South Carolina debated such schools as Carson-Newman, King, Wake Forest, Presbyterian College of S. C. and Newberry. This trip was a new experiment with our coach Professor Hunter acting as its originator, to whom its success is due.

As usual the ones showing the greatest ability in a preliminary were selected.

As usual we are to be represented by an orator in the Tennessee Intercollegiate Forensic League. This year the orator is E. G. Cornelius. The title of his oration is, "The Discovery of America." Maryville is to be the host of the league.

This year also, Maryville is to be represented by G. Leslie Poe in a state contest to be held at Lebanon, competing with such schools as Vanderbilt, Sewanee, U. of Chattanooga, U. of Tennessee. This is indeed an honor to Maryville. The subject of Mr. Poe's oration is, "The Forum vs. The Coliseum."

Under the coaching of Professor Hunter, Maryville always wins a majority of the debates and we are confident that such will be the case this season. Due to the growth in schedule we feel fortunate that we have for Professor Hunter such an efficient assistant as Professor Mintier.

PREPARATORY DEBATERS

Preparatory Forensics

The Preparatory School has for years past produced winning teams in inter-scholastic forensics.

Last year the School had several good teams which participated in some hard dual debates. Among the teams we met were Central High of Memphis, Athens Girls' School, Knoxville High, and Friendsville High. We lost only one debate, that with Memphis, at Memphis.

This year we have on our schedule two dual debates, one with Johnson Bible College, and the other with Johnson City High School.

The Johnson City debate is scheduled for April 14. The team which remains at home consists of Kathleen Hunnicutt, Mary Huffman, Emilie Minton, Nina Lou Landis. Edgar Buchanan, Merle Marshall, and William Murphy represent us at Johnson City.

The Johnson Bible College debate is to be on April 23. This is our first debate against a college team, but watch our smoke. The home team is composed of James Cofer, Henry Welborn and James Foutts, while we are represented at Johnson Bible College by Thomas Kent, Walter Buchanan, and Hugh Huffman. The prospects for this year are very good, and the Preps are expecting good results from all four of the teams.

Tubby leaves us this year, and we hate to see him go. He has played three years of fine football for Maryville, being good on offensive, and fine on defensive.

EDWARD HAMILTON

Fullback

This is Hamilton's first year on football for Maryville, and it has been a good one. His line plunging and driving power has made him a good fullback.

Dinwiddie is our big boy. He weighs two hundred and twenty pounds, and is six five in height. George has two more years of football at Maryville.

CARL SCHMIDT

Guard

Schmidt is a fine line man. He held down a guard's position well. He's a sophomore, and is eligible for two more years of varsity football.

HARRISON BOWLES

Tackle

Bowles held down tackle in great style. He is a hard hitter, and has proven a stumbling block in many an opponent's way.

Guard

P. G. has played two years of successful football for Maryville, and has two more to come. For a big man he has plenty of speed, and held down his position well.

KENNETH CLEMENS

BAXTER WILLIAMS

End

This is Baxter's first year of varsity football. He is one of the most adept receivers of the forward pass Maryville has ever turned out.

Roy is the hardest worker and hardest tackler on the team. This is Roy's last year of college football, and he leaves behind him a good record.

DORIS MUSICK

End

Doris is one of the scrappiest men ever seen on and off the football field. He has had a fine season at end, and we look for two more just like this one.

CHILHOWEAN

EARLE RISKEY

Quarterback

Riskey has a most successful season behind him, and a promise of more to come. He's a good quarter, a great end, and a fatal tackler.

ALLEN WYNCOOP

Allen can play anywhere, which makes him a valuable man on any football team. He was one of the best men on the team for defense.

Basketball Resume

JEAN McMURRAY - - - - - Captain
DORIS MUSICK - - - - - Manager
L. S. HONAKER - - - - - Coach

Prospects for the 1923 basketball season looked fairly bright as there were four lettermen ready to swing into action. These four men, Captain McMurray, Janoviczky, Musick, and McGinley formed a splendid nucleus and with an abundance of new material on hand, it was to be hoped that a good team could be developed.

The first game of the season, with Johnson Bible College, just before Christmas, was barely a victory, the Highlanders nosing out the Biblites by two points. Shorty Sneed scored most of the local points.

The second game was with the University of Tennessee. The Highlanders displayed some high class basketball. Enjoying a 10 to 5 lead over the Vols in the first half, the locals showed to advantage. However, Tennessee came from behind in the last two minutes of play and won the game 18 to 15.

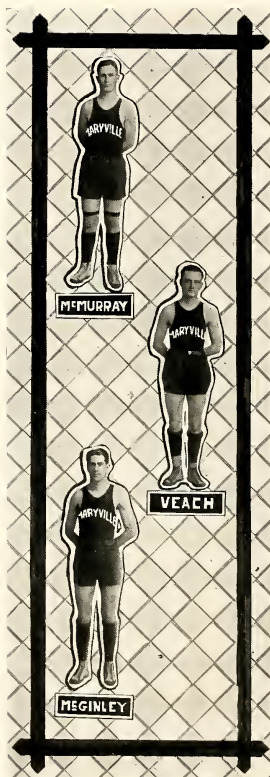

The Berea game was a walkaway, the locals showing great form. Tusculum came next and "Slim" McGinley with his six field goals helped snow them under.

In the return game at Johnson Bible College our gang stepped on them for a 30 to 18 win.

Milligan came here confident, went home with the short end of a 22 to 13 score.

Knoxville Y. M. C. A. always gives the Highlanders trouble but the game at Knoxville showed our team in good form and resulted in another win. A trip east resulted in a victory the first night over Tusculum in a hard fought game. Next night East Tennessee Normal bowed to our team in another tough engagement. The third night showed some clock-work playing at Emory and Henry, McMurray and Risky scoring high, the former with eight, the latter with seven fielders. The fourth night out Milligan won a decision over the Highlanders, the referee working as a unit with the Milligan quintet. Janoviczky showed well in this game by his speed floor work, while Musick played excellently.

Knoxville Y came to Maryville for their second defeat, a case of too much guarding for the Y basketeers. Emory and Henry looked for revenge on our court, but secured it not. McGinley scored seven field goals.

CHILHOWEAN

It was a hot affair, this Transylvania game; in fact, the old timers about town declared they had never seen the like before. The Kentuckians had a 14 to 11 lead at the half way point. The game was nip and tuck in the second half, and Transylvania had it won, apparently. One-half minute to play, four points ahead,—the fireworks started. Capt. McMurray says, "let's go", caged two long field goals from the center of the court and knotted the count.

This little McMurray exhibition saved things for the Highlanders. In an extra five minute period neither team could count. Another period was necessary and here the McGinley artillery was brought into play. This Slim individual eased in three goals. Transylvania failed to register and it was all over. East Tennessee Normal again lost to us at Maryville, Riskey counting for seven goals.

Outpassing, outgeneraling, outguarding, and outplaying Tennessee did not keep the Highlanders from losing 23 to 21. Veech pulled the heavy stuff and showed how a good guard works. It was a hard battle to lose.

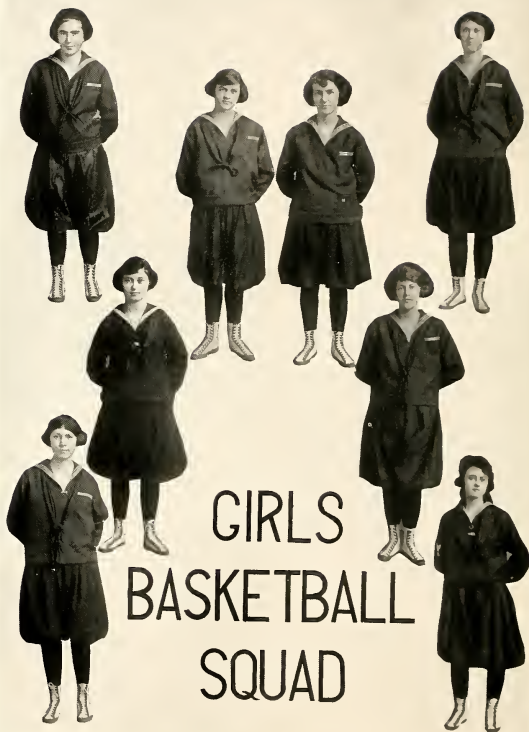

Milligan disputed our claim to the championship of the Appalachian Conference. A post season game was arranged, we went up and beat them in a businesslike manner, tucked the cup under our arms and came home. Thus ended the most successful basketball season in the history of Maryville. With hopes for a new gymnasium next year, and all the players but Jenny back, next year's team should prove one of the best in the South.

Baseball Review, 1922 Season

ON May 22, Maryville College closed one of her most successful seasons in baseball. Coach Honaker started the season last year with a veteran infield and outfield and experienced battery men. Before the season was well on its way, it was seen that the 1922 Highlanders had the old fighting spirit and the ability to win of the Highlanders of old. The work of the team and their enthusiasm for work, well earned for them the championship of East Tennessee. The players on this team were human just like other ball players and since they were human, they had their peculiarities just like all other human beings. Below are some of these peculiarities and comments on some of their traits:

Williams. Hardest worker on the field, bubbling over with pep on the hottest kind of days.

Gray. Acknowledged by some to be the best college pitcher in Tennessee.

Matthews. A pitcher who uses his head with plenty of smoke and breaks.

Williams. A heady pitcher with lots of experience.

Ruble. Good hitter, eats 'em up at first, high, and low.

Partee (captain). Captain two years in succession. Fast fielder, heady man on bases, hard hitter, great aim, a good field captain.

McLane. A fine sacrifice man, fields well, accurate thrower.

McCall. Fancy player, grabs 'em everywhere.

Acton. A real ball player, plays any position.

Sneed. Fast outfielder, able to hit for extra bases.

Rowan. Same every day, good fielder.

McCall. Consistent fielder, can hit when hits mean runs.

The season was a record of victories. Of the 24 games played, Maryville won thirteen, lost seven, and tied four. The game with the New York Giants could almost be credited a victory, for Maryville held them to a five to two score. Perhaps the best game of the season was the one in which Maryville defeated the Pioneers 11-0 at Caswell Park. The fourteen inning game with Milligan College was also one of the brilliant games of the past season. The crowning achievement of the season, however, was the taking of five game series with the University of Tennessee. In the series two were tie games, two were victories for Maryville, and the final game was won by the Volunteers.

NEW ATHLETIC FIELD

The Alumni and Former Students' Athletic Campaign

During the year 1921 numerous suggestions were made as to what might be the greatest contribution of the Alumni and former students of Maryville College to the progress of the institution. Out of these suggestions there emerged a proposal that they undertake the task of raising among themselves a sum sufficient to provide for adequate athletic facilities on the hill; consequently, a campaign for $50,000 was begun.

This campaign was carried on by Prof. H. E. Orr and Prof. E. R. Hunter. These men did everything in their power to make the campaign a success, for this was not a campaign for athletics only but for the whole tradition of Maryville. Maryville must be made attractive to prospective students, and young men can not be attracted to a school which does not have adequate athletic facilities.

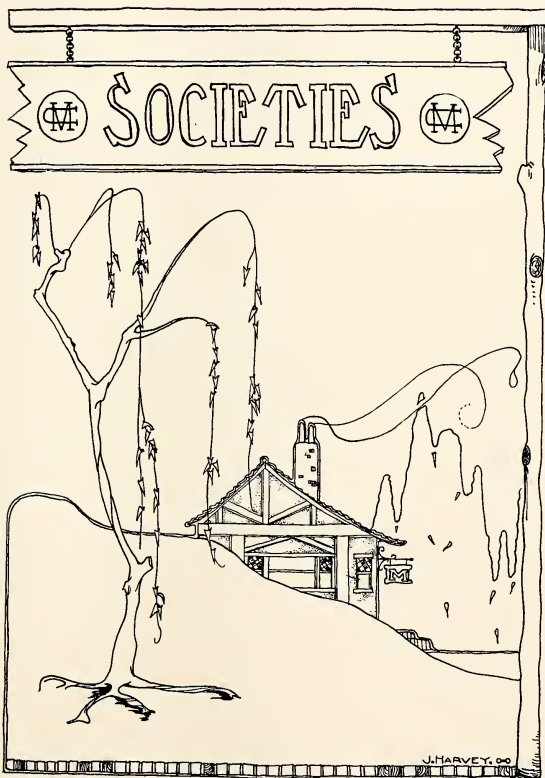

Former Maryvillians everywhere have responded most loyally. Although the goal has not yet been reached, it is being rapidly approached. There are visible results on the hill. The task of grading and leveling the athletic field has been completed. It is expected that the new gymnasium will be ready for us during the school year 1923-1924. Nothing finer could come to the old college than this arousal of the spirit of its alumni and former students.

Officers of the Second Term

Two score years ago a group of young men, realizing the need of literary training, organized the Alpha Sigma Literary Society. It was the lofty aim of its twelve noble founders to establish an organization for the development of forensic and social activities among the student body of Maryville. And all down through these forty years of its history the Alpha Sigma Literary Society has stood for good fellowship among the boys on the hill, and for the highest literary attainment possible. The Society has, by keeping up the standards of the College in Literature, Oratory and Debate, succeeded to a remarkable degree in carrying out the purposes of its founders.

The Alpha Sigma Spirit has been felt in every phase of college life. Our men stand for clean competition in all college activities. Our members are ambitious, but their ambition is guided by unselfishness; they are social, but their social aims are limited by the realization of the importance of higher literary work. Every effort has been put forth to keep the society up to the standards of efficiency that have been handed down through its traditions. In the admittance of new members, quality rather than quantity has been the guiding principle.

The closing year has been one in which the direct application of the Alpha Sigma spirit has achieved noteworthy results. The annual midwinter is a special feature of the year; in this the members of the Literary Societies have an opportunity to show their literary talent. The Alpha Sigma play, "Clarence" was pronounced a real success and commended by both the student body and the faculty. The Society has taken its usual important part in the College with orators and debaters; and in fact our men have been active in all noteworthy movements on the hill.

The Alpha Sigma spirit of brotherhood and service has been felt not only on the campus but throughout the country and the world. The greatest evangelistic song leader the world has yet seen, the Hon. Charles M. Alexander, who sang the good news of salvation deep into the hearts of thousands in every part of the globe, was a member of the Alpha Sigma Literary Society and a worthy representative of its noble purposes. The Society, like the College, offers to its present and future membership the Challenge of a Mighty Line. The forty years of Alpha Sigma history are rich with achievements, and its ideals have been carefully guarded and perpetuated. Greater achievements and higher attainments are the ambitions of the present membership.

Ministerial Association

What is there to write about the Benedicts of Maryville College that would be of interest to those who read this Annual? Some question, is it not?

Sure it is. Here is the answer:

Some call us "Sky Pilots." Now that's a good name, for it implies much and means more. To be preparing for a vocation of life with the far reaching vision, which the name suggests, is to be in a field of service which has no limit. No limit as to development or service, character of life!

Whether you call us "Benedicts" or "Sky Pilots", "Pulpit Punchers", or what-not, we are sure that there is much for us to do in the way of preparation and pruning of ourselves. We are also confident that any young man who wants to serve his day and generation best can find no better field than in the Christian Ministry.

To be a "Sky Pilot" is to answer the Challenge of the Hour: A Call for College Men and Women to be prepared for the ever increasing Responsibilities of Life, The Challenge of the Present World Crisis.

Student Volunteer Group

Thirty-seven years ago, a conference of two hundred and fifty Christian students was held in Massachusetts. Of this number twenty-one had decided to serve on the foreign field. Three of this group, believing that God desired a greater number to represent him abroad, held a most earnest prayer meeting and, as a result, one hundred made it their life purpose "if God permit, to become foreign missionaries." This was the beginning of the Student Volunteer Movement. As a result over nine thousand have sailed for foreign shores, and there are now groups of Student Volunteers in one thousand institutions.

Of the twenty groups in Tennessee, Maryville College has the largest. The members of this group gather together informally once a week to deepen their lives spiritually, to strengthen their purpose, to study the needs of foreign lands, and to discuss problems that they will meet as missionaries. Their individual purpose is to declare the love of God, to prepare as thoroughly as possible, and to share the happiness and joy of serving and knowing Christ. As an organization, no definite attempt is made to recruit new members, for realizing the responsibility and difficulties that follow, they believe that decision must be made through conviction of God. To Student Volunteers there are no territorial divisions, there are no racial distinctions, but all are one in the sight of God, and their vision has included the whole world as they answer the call to serve mankind.

The February Meetings

Maryville's hundred and four years of age bring with them more than a century of traditions, of which the chief is her February Meetings. This year, Dr. Frank Marston, of Cincinnati came to us with a message that thrilled and challenged all who heard him. As he told the old, old story, many hearts were stirred to accept the Saviour whom he preached, and hundreds of others dedicated themselves anew to His service. His straightforward messages, his wonderful illustrations, as well as his personal interviews with individual students, will never be forgotten.

For the second time the music of the meetings was under the capable direction of Rev. Sydney Stringham. Mr. Stringham's voice and personality combine to win the loyal friendship of Maryville students. As we think of him we can still hear, rolling up from the old chapel, the strain of "Sweeter as the Years Go By", "My Wonderful Dream", and "Since Jesus Came Into My Heart."

Long after we are away from our Alma Mater and in the midst of the rush of life the holy influence of the meetings will be with us a constraining power, and through our minds will echo the words of the Prophet of old, "For the Lord Jehovah will help me, therefore have I not been confounded; therefore have I set my face like a flint."

Hi-Trail Club

The Hi-Trail Club was organized October 21, 1921. This club was organized for the purpose of gaining a better knowledge of the mountains, of helping the mountain people, and learning to do things in a systematic way.

In admittance of new members quality and not quantity has been the guiding principle and the membership is limited to twelve. To become a member of the Hi-Trail Club one must have had at least one hundred miles of hiking experience, and must present a thesis giving an account of some such experience.

Success for the club was predicted last year, and we have fulfilled this prediction, but we are not satisfied. We want more success and with such a policy and good fellowship as is always prevalent in our club, there can be nothing but success. The record of the club thus far is rich with achievements; and its ideals are being carefully guarded for greater achievements are the ambitions of the members:

In the mysterious realm beyond the chemical veil, 'mid whirling atomic universes and madly gyrating electrons executing their complicated convolutions, we, the chemists, dig and delve in our scientific efforts to solve the riddle of the universe.

But we are not a dry and musty lot like those who dig for mummies amid the pyramids of Egypt. For within this Chemical Realm we meet and associate with some of the most brilliant characters of the day.

Al Uminum, that brilliant and highly polished gentlemen, and Ethel Alcohol, a most volatile, lively and scintillating young lady are two of our friends who rank high in the social scale of the chemical world.

Then there are such interesting characters, tho' hardly so desirable as associates, that crude, unrefined Pete Roleum, that hard character who travels under the cognomen of Silly Con.

Even though there are some undesirable associates the brilliant and desirable characters are in the great majority, and we are content to continue our efforts to solve the great scientific puzzles.

The Regenerated Maryvillians

"Tag! You're it, Pop."

This was a shout from Robert Baldwinsky, junior, who, with his father, was, on this snappy, cold morning in July, 1976, playing tag around an iceberg, on which they were stranded in the currents of the Arctic Ocean. Many years before, Robert Baldwinsky, an archeologist, and his son had started on an exploration to find the tomb of King Dud, an ancient Eskimo ruler. On this same trip they intended to search for the remains of a party, which, after serving five years in confinement in Maryville College, had broken loose and gone to the Arctic Zone in search of new species of meat, for a change of stew at Pearsons.

"Forty years ago this very day", recollected Robert senior, "this little band of daredevils, consisting of none other than that famous old yell leader, Shimmie-much Brown, and several athletes, including Tubby Sellem, Bobby Throwup, Baby Gene McMursus, Doris Noise, Nigger Rudolph Riskall, and Barborum Simpson, had broken away from Miss Molly's apron strings and has struck out on a hazardous journey northward. Today they are lost to the world."

"There, son, I've caught you", said the proud old father, as he tagged the body of his first offspring.

"Look at that thing in the ice, Pop." His father looked and beheld a figure that appeared to be a baboon crouching as if to spring.

Tools, including a big hammer and a pick for the father, and a small hammer and a pick for Junior, were secured, and work was begun. Clank, clank, clank went the father's big hammer; click, click, click, echoed the son's faint strokes.

Soon they began to near the place of the figure. Junior struck a part of the body, which appeared to be the knee, and immediately a queer sound was heard from within.

"He said 'M', Pop."

The picking went on until the father struck the newly discovered creature in the solar plexus. This brought forth a grunt, which sounded like "A."

"This is getting interesting, son."

"R."

A number of cracks brought forth a series of articulations, which sounded to Junior like "Y—V—I—L—L—."

"EEEEEE", screamed the poor beast.

With one big swish the father let his hammer swing against the body of the unnatural species of mammoth. The figure leaped high into the air, shouting, "Maryville! Maryville! Maryville!" On his descent the now alive creature landed on poor Junior with such a crash that the startled lad was knocked to the ice.

"Get him off, Pop, get him off!" shouted the frightened boy.

Robert Baldwinsky senior pulled him off and looked straight into the face of his former friend and school mate, Shimmie-much Brown. "Well of all things", exclaimed Robert. "What in the name of Allah are you doing here?"

"It's a long story, Bob. Let's build a fire. A fire was built on the ice and the famous yell leader began his tale.

"You remember that we came up here in search of food, do you not? Well, we came to our journeys end, as most seekers of real food do, without any food. But we had reached the North Pole, and that meant a great deal to us. To celebrate the occasion we decided to give a yell for our Alma Mater. I was just ready to begin when the great snow storm came up and we were buried in the snow. The snow froze and there we were until you came along and rescued me. I don't know what became of the gang—" He had no sooner uttered the last word than out from the ice, which was fast melting under the heat of the fire, walked Baby Gene McMursus, followed by Tubby Sellem and Bobby Throwup.

"Wonder where the rest of the gang is", said Bobby.

"Here's one of them", shouted Doris, as he shiveringly walked out from the iceberg.

"And here's the rest", called Nigger Rudolph Riskall, as he appeared, leading Barborum Simpson by the hand.

A general thawing out began, during which the regenerated Maryvillians and Robert told many tales of experiences gone through since they had last met. "Well, the fire's getting low, son, and we've accomplished only half of our task, but we can't find old King Dud's tomb by sitting here, so I guess we had better be rambling on. So long, fellows. See you at the next dance at Bartlett Hall."

"So long, Robert, old thing. Thanks for the fire."

THIS ANNUAL is just one of the many published by us this year. The fact that most of the College and School Annuals throughout the Southeastern Section are products of our presses is sufficient evidence, we believe, of our ability to produce the very highest quality of work and our reputation for making deliveries "on time." Our service is complete,—including drawings, grouping, retouching, engraving, designing and printing in one or more colors. ♦ ♦ ♦ ♦ ♦ ♦ ♦
